The Sarah Carolyn Jewelry Collection: Celebrating Life's Special Occasions

BY JULIE HERRON CARSON

White sand, blue water, golden sunsets, silver moonrise...these are some of the inspirations for the new jewelry collection by designer Carolyn Campbell Brigman. Brigman is the owner of Sarah Carolyn at McCaskill & Company, a jewelry boutique in Destin. The shop carries moderately priced jewelry created by local and international designers, complementing the high-end pieces offered by Brigman's parents, Elizabeth and Bill Campbell, owners of McCaskill & Company.

Brigman grew up in the jewelry business. "I think I started out making friendship bracelets as a child," she says. "Once I opened my own shop and started working directly with designers, I became inspired again to create my own pieces. I studied the mechanics of jewelry-making and debuted the Sarah Carolyn Collection a little over a year ago."

Brigman works in gold-fill and sterling silver, crafting her pieces from pearls and semi-precious gemstones. The true beauty of the collection, however, lies in the designer's ability to customize any piece to suit any taste. "Originally, I focused on bridal jewelry since my designs can easily incorporate certain colors or styles. I love working with brides to create just the right necklaces or earrings to fit the personalities and styles of her bridesmaids," she says. Brigman quickly realized that her unique, customized jewelry designs were perfect for a variety of occasions from birthdays to graduation, from anniversaries to celebrating the birth of a new baby. "I can work with any style and almost any budget," she says. "Most of my pieces sell for $45-$200, depending on the stones I use."

At press time, Brigman was working on a special commission very near to her heart. She was creating jewelry for her own bridesmaids in preparation for her wedding to Todd Brigman. After all, what better way to mark one of life's most significant milestones than with a piece of jewelry from the Sarah Carolyn Collection?
